While Pemrenke has obeyed the conditions of her supervision, I do not believe that it would be appropriate to terminate her supervised release. The period of supervision was imposed to reflect the egregious nature of her crime and her criminal history, as well as to deter further crimes. 18 U.S.C. §§ 3583(c), 3553(a)(1), (a)(2)(B)–(C). As the government points out, the conviction here stems from an attempt to avoid serving the full term of her sentence in a previous case. Considering these factors, I do not believe that early termination of supervision is in the interest of justice. 18 U.S.C. § 3583(e)(1). Accordingly, the motion, ECF No. 28, is DENIED. The Clerk shall send a copy of this Order to the defendant and to the probation office.

It is so ORDERED.
